

Ticket Handling Guideline – Super Typhoon BAVI

Due to the impact of Super Typhoon BAVI, China Airlines flights to/from Taiwan between 18:00 on 10 July and 12 July 2026 (Taiwan Time) may be subject to schedule changes. Passengers are encouraged to check the latest flight status via the China Airlines website, China Airlines App, or by registering for SMS notifications.

Eligibility	• Applicable to 297 tickets issued on or before 07 July 2026 with confirmed bookings affected by Super Typhoon BAVI. • Ticket reissue or refund applications must be completed on or before 31 July 2026. • Group, Free, and Reduced Fare tickets (GIT/DM/ID/AD) are not eligible.
Change	(a) Within ticket validity that the Booking class/Carrier/Itinerary (ticketed point same city) show on tickets remain unchanged while re-booking on new flight date falls within 14 days prior to/after the affected flight (the new flight must be the same carrier, the same booking class and the same itinerary (sector). ➤ Please annotate BAVI120 in the Endorsement box and must add “S” at the beginning of the Fare calculation. (b) For any changes outside the above (a) guideline, any fare/tax differences from rebooking or rerouting are to be paid by the passenger. The reissue fee (including service charge) will be waived once. ➤ Please annotate BAVI120 in the Endorsement box.
Refund	(a) Totally Unused Tickets: Full refund shall be performed without imposing any refund charge/penalty (YR tax refundable). (b) Partially Used Tickets: Refund charge/penalty waived (YR tax non-refundable) based on involuntary refund procedures. ➤ Please annotate BAVI120 in the waiver/authorization boxes.
EMD & No Show	(a) No show fee shall be waived once. (b) Chargeable seat / Prepaid Excess Baggage EMDs shall be refunded.

For any interline flight irregularities not covered above, please contact Agency Support at YVR297@china-airlines.com for further assistance. Failure to comply with the above waiver conditions may result in an Agency Debit Memo (ADM) and applicable administration fees.

Thank you for your continued support of China Airlines